Where To Go for Emergent Relief

September 5, 2011

By Michael L. Rich

Although significantly less utilized than emergent applications to a court, seeking temporary restraints or preliminary injunctive relief in arbitration can, in some instances, best serve a client's interests.