Lisa Leili is an associate of Porzio, Bromberg & Newman, P.C. and a member of the firm's Environmental Practice Group. Lisa has been practicing general civil litigation since graduating from Rutgers University Law School, Newark in 2003. Since that time, Lisa has focused her practice on environmental transactions, litigation and compliance matters, and land use. Lisa also has extensive experience litigating many personal and corporate matters, including disputes concerning insurance, landlord/tenant, and personal injury matters.

After earning her degree in Paralegal Studies, Lisa continued her education and earned her Bachelor of Science degree, with honors, in Administration of Justice from Rutgers University, New Brunswick in 1999. While in law school, Lisa was a member of the Rutgers Urban Legal Clinic, where she represented indigent defendants in criminal matters.
