Porzio, Bromberg & Newman congratulates Michelle D. Axelrod, principal in the firm's Life Sciences Compliance and Regulatory Counseling team and a member of the firm's Management Committee, for being recognized as a 2024 BTI Client Service All-Star, an honor reserved for less than 500 attorneys nationwide.

The report is published by BTI Consulting Group and identifies a select group of attorneys who deliver exceptional client service that is practical, savvy, knowledgeable, accessible, responsive, agile, and competent to handle complex issues.

The BTI Client Service All-Stars is the only client-driven and independently researched measure of attorney client service. The annual report is a data-based ranking based on more than 350 interviews with top legal decision-makers at large organizations with more than $700 million in annual revenue. The award is highly respected because it is entirely based on client feedback – the organization does not accept submissions or self-recommendations from law firms.

Michelle has over 25 years of experience addressing legal and compliance issues impacting companies in the life sciences industry; and 15 years as in-house counsel. Michelle advises pharmaceutical, biotech, and medical device clients on complex legal and compliance issues through all stages of development, from the clinical stage through commercialization.
