

Wall Street Journal Reports on EZ Worldwide Express's Emergence from Bankruptcy

December 13, 2016

By: Rachel Parisi, Kelly Curtin, Warren Martin Jr.

The Wall Street Journal reported on Porzio client EZ Worldwide Express in the article, "New Jersey Shipping Firm Can Leave Bankruptcy," by Katy Stech, on December 13, 2016.

EZ Worldwide Express and United Business Freight Forwarders, freight carriers to the retail clothing industry serving Forever 21, H&M Stores, the Disney Store, Phillips Van Heusen, Amazon and others, emerged from Chapter 11 Bankruptcy on Friday. The two affiliated companies emerge a streamlined business with some $40 million in profitable revenues.

The Porzio team representing EZ Worldwide Express includes attorneys Warren J. Martin Jr., Michael J. Naporano, Kelly D. Curtin and Rachel A. Parisi.

To read the Wall Street Journal article, please click here.