Law360.com reported on Porzio client Oakley Inc. in the article, "Oakley Objects to Performance Sports' $575M Asset Sale," by Vince Sullivan, on January 31, 2017.

Oakley filed an objection opposing sports equipment maker Performance Sports Group Ltd.'s proposed $575 million sale of assets, stating that Oakley holds trademark rights to some of the products included in the sale.

Oakley is represented by Porzio principal Brett S. Moore, alongside attorneys from Womble Carlyle Sandridge & Rice LLP. Mr. Moore is a member of Porzio's Bankruptcy and Financial Restructuring Department, serves as the firm's Commercial Practice Group Chair and is Managing Principal of the firm's New York Office. His practice primarily involves the representation of creditors and commercial debtors in insolvency/restructuring matters.
