

Porzio Congratulates Scott Chambers and Richard Oparil for their Inclusion in 2017 Washington DC Super Lawyers Rankings

April 24, 2017

Porzio is pleased to announce that principals Scott A.M. Chambers, PhD and Richard J. Oparil have been recognized by Washington DC Super Lawyers 2017. Both attorneys are members of the firm's Intellectual Property Department.

Dr. Scott Chambers concentrates his practice in all areas of patent law, including licensing, patent infringement and validity issues, patent prosecution, patent term extensions under Hatch Waxman and client counseling. He is a skilled litigator who represents clients in federal courts and before government agencies, including the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office (USPTO), the Federal Trade Commission and the International Trade Commission.

Richard Oparil has 30 years of experience representing clients before federal courts, agencies and Congress. He has represented companies across numerous industries in patent, trademark, unfair competition, trade secrets, trade regulation and other complex litigation at the trial and appellate levels and before the International Trade Commission. He has extensive experience in technology licensing, counseling and due diligence matters.

The selections for this esteemed list are made by the research team at Super Lawyers. Each year, the research team at Super Lawyers undertakes a rigorous multi-phase selection process that includes a statewide survey of lawyers, independent evaluation of candidates by the attorney-led research staff, a peer review of candidates by practice area and a good-standing and disciplinary check.
