Porzio Names Its First Director of Knowledge and Legal Process Solutions

April 3, 2017

Effective April 24, 2017, Paul C. Wittekind has been named Porzio's first Director of Knowledge and Legal Process Solutions.

Mr. Wittekind has worked at Porzio for over 30 years. He started as a summer paralegal intern, transitioned to a paralegal, and ultimately assumed the role of Director of Information Technology. He has been instrumental in building Porzio's IT department as the firm has grown and expanded into offices throughout the East Coast.

This new position will capitalize on Mr. Wittekind's extensive legal and technology knowledge. As the Director of Knowledge and Legal Process Solutions, he will partner with the law firm and its subsidiaries to build, leverage and promote knowledge management so that work product and processes can be shared throughout the Porzio family of companies. He will work closely with the firm management and practice groups to assist with data analytics, legal pricing, and the efficient and effective delivery of legal services. Additionally, he will conduct targeted legal and market research to help to expand client offerings, products and services. Mr. Wittekind's expanded responsibilities are important to differentiate Porzio and maintain our competitive advantage.

We look forward to Mr. Wittekind's continued contributions to the firm and its clients.
